

from a study of Acts of the ... the son who men, a synopsis of which we publish. In another column, it will be seen that the lectures on temperance and abstinence have been attended by much interest, and, we should imagine, will be of much use as possible mediums of reform. The Rev. Father McGrath appears to have proved more than a match for the member for Hartley and his friends in the cause of temperance, &c., if not for the Government itself. The fact that the members of the House may have produced a more effectual result than the Government, is, we think, highly commendable; it may well be doubted if they have been as truly beneficial in Sydney.

The weather yesterday was done, and flying clouds at inconvenient times. In the evening it was cooler, a southerly wind prevailing.

Between nine and ten o'clock yesterday morning the crew of a man, apparently a seaman or a wharf labourer, were seen to enter the water by some of the Police Force near Parbury wharf, and were soon recovered and taken to the dead-house. Clavins where it now is. Dr. Dansey saw the body and that there were no marks of violence and that signs of death was probably drowning. Nothing is known concerning the deceased, but the coroner is waiting for a body which the identification of the body. Deceased was about 30 years of age and 5 feet 6 inches in height. He had brown hair, eyes and a thick brown beard on the chin, his ears being clean shaven. The body was dressed in a grey sac coat, grey twined trousers, and a plaid while on the feet were a pair of old elastic sole and cotton socks.

The office of the Herald in Swanston-street was considerably damaged by fire on Saturday morning. The fire broke out at 12 o'clock and it is estimated that the premises were lost at 1 o'clock. The night at about 10 o'clock by the manager, who that there was no indication of fire. At 6 o'clock next morning smoke was seen issuing from the windows, and an alarm was given. Two hoses being to the Arrols office were immediately run out

The employees, who were with directed a stream of water into the rear of the building. Metropolitan brigade was soon present, throwing well directed streams into the front thereof. The Albion and Cuxton brigades also attended. The fire apparently originated amongst the boiler, and from thence it ascended to the upper floor and roof. Before it was under control a good pool of the building, and after the water was turned on, six jets in all being directed into play, the flames were soon checked. The fire spread from spreading to adjoining premises, and by about 6 o'clock the fire was extinguished. A large quantity of paper which had been stored in a cellar on the ground floor was destroyed, the machinery was considerably injured, the floor of the composing-room and the floor of the damaged, several small rooms which were used for the storage of materials and furniture were totally destroyed, and the front premises were slightly damaged. It would appear that the fire had been smouldering for a considerable time, as the joists and flooring about the were greatly burned. The premises and their contents were insured in the Alliance Company for $10,000, but a portion was reinsured in other offices.

The Hamilton Spectator contains an account of a sad accident which happened to Mrs. A. T. Dickens a few days ago. The painful circumstance is of a long and deep interest because the husband of the lady is one of the late Charles Dickens, whose writings have secured him an honoured place wherever English literature is appreciated. Mrs. Dickens was being driven about in a carriage, which was drawn by a pair of spirited horses. She had with her several children. The accident, from some unknown cause, became frightened and bolted, and Mrs. Dickens was thrown out, saving her children from harm. She was thrown out of the carriage and mortally injured. The sad occurrence caused a painful sensation in the district where it occurred, and the funeral cortege was the longest ever witnessed in the locality.

DNEY INTERNATIONAL EXHIBITION.

[By Cable.]

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, Dec. 24.
warship takes the Italian exhibits for Sydney International Exhibition, with the of Genoa as commander.

RAILWAY GRIEVANCES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

The management of our railways, and the insufficient accommodation provided to meet the trains for arrival at the Redfern terminus to carry the passengers to the city, have lately been frequently complained of.

your paper. The trains in many instances leave only a few seconds behind the time that most serious locomotive engineers would consider as a safe margin for the probable loss sustained.

One morning I had to go to Campbelltown, or rather beyond it, on that urgent business. I had arranged to meet some other passengers at the station to go with me, at the Sydney railway station, in time for the excursion train leaving Sydney at 10 minutes past 11. I found the train at the station, I accordingly had to leave before the 10.30. I was thirty minutes late at eleven minutes past 10, which would thus leave me minutes to spare. I was accordingly at the Newtown station at 11.00, and at that time the train was minutes late in arriving at and leaving Newtown. I was twelve minutes late at 11.12, and therefore it was impossible for me to go down in time to catch the train. I went at once and explained the matter; and said that I was a passenger, and how important it was for me to go by that train and I begged him to stop the train at Newtown, but no purpose; he said "he daresn't do it." Of course, but he had no other alternative. I was then in a pecuniary loss entailed. I may mention that there were several other passengers desirous of going by ated and much disappointed. It would not trouble this letter were it not the complaints lately so numerous I think there is no harm in again bringing the subject before the public.

It will touch on the last inconvenience entailed upon the new system of tickets introduced yesterday, by return tickets are abolished. We all understand the additional expense was to be thrown on the passenger by this change, but now the fares in and out class from here are raised 33 per cent., whilst the first class cabin remains unchanged. Naturally the second class passengers feel themselves badly treated, and are loud in their complaints.

Yours truly,
Amos B. 21.

NEWTOWN.

CHURCHMAN.—Mr. H. Guedalla informs the Chronicle that his "quadrant from Jerusalem sent him by the London and Lancashire Express," is his sole expense, all the land in front of the Jerusalem houses has been prepared for cultivation by the aid of the rocks. Terraces are built all along, as in the Solihull district, and divided into rectangles, wherever all the inmates of the Town, houses in the opportunity of cultivating the land, which will be the necessary vegetables, etc., for their maintenance. In the centre of the village a well will be dug, and a large cistern to be constructed in the centre of the village which will secure to them the blessings in future of an abundant supply of water. Instead of having, as at present, to pay, when required, a large sum of money for the smallest quantity, they have also sent from the town a beautiful verandah to be placed in front of the house, in order to protect them from the sun, and to keep them cool, so productive of ophthalmia. In addition to improvements, a new entrance has been made by him in the centre of the boundary wall, a lodge built for the purpose, and a large hall, all for the use of the village in emergency. All this has been employed at a critical period of their lives, on account of the famine which has prevailed for all necessities of life, to a large number of workmen.

The Russian Government is making preparations for trying the 240 Nihilists who are now confined in at Odessa. Many of them have been in prison since 1880, and these six will be tried separately for attempts to escape. The cost of their maintenance is paid in the pay of the police. During the course of the tribution the garnison will be increased and the police will be reduced. It is believed a limited number of abolition will be admitted to the city.

Dr JONES'S LIGHT-BROWN COE LIVER OIL, "STRAUDEN'S" AS A RESTORATIVE, MEDICINE AND FOOD.—Dr. Whitcomb, of Hingham, Dr. Mayhew, of New Bedford, and several long-extended experience as a medical practitioner concur with confidence to recommend Dr. Jones's Light-Brown Cod Liver Oil as a medicinal preparation for the cure of scurvy, more palatable, and infinitely less likely to disburthen the stomach than the Pale Oil. The practice which has been followed of giving castor oil with the oil is altogether to be rejected, is highly objectionable, for we are told that the use of no oil is necessary, and that the emulsification it takes largely from its therapeutic value. We are asked for an explanation of the marked success which has been manifested in the numerous cases of scurvy cured by Light-Brown Cod Liver Oil, should say that it is owing to its containing the purest cod liver oil, and to its being a trustworthy medicinal, dietetic, and regional preparation, and to its not only to exist in no other form, but to be used with in such uniform combination." Dr. de Jong's Light-Brown Cod Liver Oil is sold by all the principal druggists, and, equally by all chemists and druggists. Sole agents—Amos, Hartford, and Co., 77, Strand, London. Agents at Elliot's, Brothers—Am u/nla.news-page14317

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.

“The only matter of policy involved in the contest between the ‘hard’ and ‘soft’ money advocates is whether it has now been definitely decided that in the opinion of the majority a coin currency is safer and better than an inconvertible paper. Since the Resumption Act was passed a little over two years ago, everything has been in favour of resuming, and it is now absolutely certain that after the first January next we shall have specie currency. In fact, we have already resumed, for on the 1st day of January, gold sold at par with paper money, and before that time, gold sold at a premium. The only moment fluctuating only between par and one cent and one-half cent. As the usual brokerage for buying or selling a thirty-second of one per cent., it can be readily seen that speculation in gold has become impossible. The New York banks have made the most complete arrangements for resuming, and there are no other considerations of a hundred million dollars, and a one hundred million dollar change, and as there are over $100,000,000 of United States currency in circulation, and less than 350,000,000 dollars in gold and silver, there is little likelihood that the Government will be in any way embarrassed. The banks have married their hard money uncles a little further than

Dean Stanley has also been an honoured guest for the past two months, and has received an oration which must have been very pleasant. He has been even more of a lion than was Mr. Dickens, and has certainly done more to fan the flame of international goodwill. He preached, in all, some dozen times and was met with a reception at the hands of a number of Methodist Episcopal bishops and clergy in recognition of his many good deeds in behalf of religious toleration.

Trade is everywhere improving, but prices remain at the very lowest ebb. Grain is now 20 per cent. lower than it was before the war, that is, computed in gold, though computed in silver it is just about the same. Hence the silver men therefore claim that instead of their former saving of appreciated gold, has risen to their former loss of depreciated silver, and that in value. Of course the gold men, and is better entitled to state measure of value than gold, and is better entitled

THE COLONIES AT THE EXHIBITION.—The Mail Gazette of October 31, says: "The success of the English colonies at the Paris Exhibition, coming so soon after their great triumph at Philadelphia, will serve to keep alive the growing importance of these outlying possessions of our Empire. The colonies of France and of Prussia will certainly have done more to impress Frenchmen with the extent of our power and resources than we could have done by means of the telegrams, books or despatches. Such success, however, is not our way. While it enables the colonies to find new markets for their produce, it also shows to foreign manufacturers that there is a large and powerful people ready to compete in time with our own people. This certainly was the deduction which the Americans at once drew from Philadelphia, and from that time forward they have been steadily increasing their exports to the colonies. We may now hope that others will follow in their wake; and the days will come when the colonies will be able to afford to supply these new competitors. In every direction, therefore, our efforts are being made to capture our trade, and unless we do this, our colonies will be a good lesson to our masters and men alike as to the position, like some of its predecessors, will scarcely benefit us.

FRANCHISE.—Mrs. B. A. Allen's World's Fair Restorer (the Illustrated) is a youthful rooster, imperting to its little to restorer its feathers heavily. Its action is certain and thorough, quickly and completely removing all the dirt and grime from the natural strengthener of the hair. Its superiority and excellence is attested by the testimonials of the Wholesale and Retail Druggists and Co., Sydney, and retail of all Chemists.

MELBOURNE, Dec. 22.

Johnson Africans will let them. But the fact that they are so sure of their minds at this time is that they are sure of their knowledge of the man who knows them. It is not Berry. Sir George, indeed, is to be wise who knows him. He is not a man who is longer, but he will have left for the land of Paris and Virginia long before the ambassadors come back, and there is no telling what trouble may not have surged up before them. The Marquis of Normandy is not likely to embarrass himself with questions which would be asked prior to his arrival among us, so that nothing will be said which would be more inconvenient to the removal of Sir George Bowen than his just return. However, as we have seen, Mr. Berry hopes for the best, and his best hopes are in the direction of "broken heads and houses in flames." As everybody is through the Australian colonies knows, the Kellie gang are still at large and the police know much about their hiding-place as ever the old did. If, in the more, the incompetence of the police, they have been in the hands of a gold-robber, escape, while on a journey to Gippaland, where he said he would show them where he had hidden the gold. The dr ecclesiastics in the pay of the State are 30,000, and are 45,000, belonging to the Orders, authorized as "unauthorized," engaged in the work of education. The total is 75,000, as they take vows for life, the clerics require a supply of about 2600 men per annum to keep up their numbers, less than a single regiment. The large numbers of "religious," so called, are reaching a quarter of a million, including 170,000 women, who are very valuable to military service. The exaggerated population, and the general subject-matter has been the result partly of declamation, and partly of a well-known illusion which induces men to exaggerate the numbers of very visible persons. A very few soldiers in uniform, if scattered, produce an impression of multitude.

[BY ELECTRIC TELEGRAPH.]

FROM OUR LONDON CORRESPONDENT.

_____

LONDON, Dec. 24.
Hon. Eliot Yarka.

WEDN

QUEENSLAND.
BRISBANE, WEDNESDAY.
Election for the Logan resulted in a majority for Dean of 250 votes over his opponent, Mr. Fryer.
AL: The Clarence (s.), from Sydney, steamsails at daylight.

ADELAIDE, WEDNESDAY.
 am which is to meet the Australian Eleven is considered stronger than any yet selected ony. E. G. Phillips is elected captain. A attendance is expected.
 urther is remarkably cool and unseasonable

A sacred musical festival was given last night at the Victoria Theatre, which was well attended in every part. The pièce de resistance was a Mass Solemnle, No. 3, by Signor P. Giozza, which possesses some merit, but is by no means equal to many similar compositions. The principals were Miss Beatie Harrison, Signora Fabris, a lady amateur, Mr. Hinchey, Mr. Wilkinson, Mr. Wilson, and Mr. Flynn, and all of them acquitted themselves well. Miss Harrison is a young lady who has achieved many triumphs in sacred music, and last night she added to her previous reputation. Her pure sweet soprano voice was heard to great advantage in the quartette incidental to the Mass, and she rendered the passage "Et tuum sanctum" with a great deal of expression. The "Agnus Dei" was given by Miss Harrison, Signora Fabris, and chorus, with fine effect, but the Signora's voice is not so well suited for this character of music as it is for operatic renderings which she has given with so much success. Her rendering of the best effort was in "Qui Tollis," for which she was loudly applauded. Mr. Hinchey's tenor is a little thin, but he rendered his parts with considerable care and success, and similar remarks may be made respecting Mr. Wilkinson, Mr. Wilson, and Mr. Flynn. The choruses were well rendered, and the orchestra was ably conducted by Signor Barolomotti acted as conductor. Mr. Banks as organist, and Mr. F. Moxed as pianist. The rest of the evening's programme was as follows:—"Inflammatus," by Mr. D. Kelly;—"Angels ever bright and fair," Miss Beatie Harrison;—"Ecce Deus," Mr. Wilkinson;—"Comfort ye my people every valley" (Messiah), Mr. J. Hinchey;—"Hal-

At the Sydney Music Union deserve the most sincere congratulations of local admirers of music for their efforts in producing Handel's oratorio, "Messiah," at the Sydney Town Hall, on the 10th inst. The singers all feel gratified with the wide-spread and generous recognition of their merits on the same occasion. Every part of the oratorio was filled. Herr Kretschmann occupied a position at the conductor's desk, and the oratorio commenced immediately afterwards. Instrumentalists were present in force, there being amongst them a fine orchestra of strings, wood-wind, and brass, with voices ranging from treble to bass were pretty evenly balanced. The trebles, perhaps, would have been more effective if their power had been greater, and the basses may have been more numerous. There was a sufficiency of tenors and bass elements in the vocalism, and the grouping of the vocalists and the instrumentalists was well arranged. The singing was good. After the overture, Mr. J. B. Jamieson entered upon the recitative "Comfort ye my people," and the alto sang the story, which, both of which were given with commendable energy and feeling. Mr. Jamieson to some extent lacked expression and feeling. Mr. Jamieson has an agreeable tenor voice, possessing a proper range, and a pleasant timbre, but he does not seem to have a great deal of the power in reserve. The chorus took up "And the Glory of the Lord" with great promptitude, and the instrumentalists accompanied them with a fine rendering. The next "The prison with which they rendered." The Lord "But who may abide," fell to the lot of Sister Steffen, whose voice was in excellent form. The instrumentalists accompanied her with a fine rendering. The former continues, demand considerable exertion on the part of a singer, but Sister Steffen was well equipped for the task, and executed it with a sincerity that won him applause from all present, and especially from those persons critically following him with the score. The beautiful recitative "Behold a virgin lady possessing a contralto voice of much sweetness in the lower register. The silence with which this lady was listened to was the greatest praise that could have been accorded to her, and the applause at its conclusion must have been extremely gratifying to her feelings. Miss St. Clair's voice is eminently suited for the rendering of the "Pastoral Symphony," and her subsequent efforts in "He was despised" were, if possible, still more successful. The account of the plaintive and impressive manner in which she gave the passage "He was despised and rejected of men." This sir, one of the most beautiful gems in the work, could not have been apporportioned more appropriately, or with greater satisfaction to the audience. The "Pastoral Symphony" had been conducted by Signor Stedman, came that wonderful and beautiful "Pastoral Symphony," upon which the artist of the orchestra, "Pastor Symphonv."

The instrumentalists appeared to great advantage at this point, and the beautiful dreamy harmony, with its enchanting and well-defined expressions, was done justice to by them. . . . It was a fitting arrangement to usher in the next act. . . . There were shepherds. . . . This was placed in the hands of the instrumentalists in a manner that they would evidently have gratified the composer's desire for richness of tone and general power, Signora Link has rarely been equalled here, and in this piece, and also in "He shall feed his flock," she manifested great feeling as well as power of expression; and considering that this is the first time she has sung such lyrics, she sang oratorio music with English words, and with a most successful result. . . . She was loudly applauded, and if time had permitted, she would probably have responded with an encore to the compliments.

so generously offered there. The next chorus, "Behold the Lamb of God" fell rather flat. In "Surely His hand borne our griefs," and "And with His stripes," matters mended considerably, and in "All we like sheep," where the movements were quick, got into a proper groove. Mr. T. B. Jamieson, who had been singing "Give us a heart," was again lacking in the expression evidently as a result of his transfer on the beautiful sentiments in this passage. The chorus "Lift up your Heads" went smoothly, and brought the first section of the programme to a termination. The items in the second part of it were very agreeably interpreted. The "Lift up your Heads" was followed by "The Feet of the Feet," and afterwards those with "How beautiful are the Feet of the Feet," and "The Feet of the Feet." We know that our Redeemer liveth, with great patience, etc.

ness. Mr. Jamieson had numbers allotted to him, and Expressions. Signor Steffani was called upon to render "Why do the nations" which he did with telling effect. The "Hallelujah chorus" followed in good style, and then choruses, quartettes, and airs, until the "Amen chorus" brought a very engaging entertainment to a conclusion.

At the Grand Hall, on the night, "Andromeda of disaster" was the subject. The illustrations were from the Old Testament, and incidents in the life of our Saviour. The figures in the different pictures being life-size. The scenes are generally copies of pictures by the best masters, and are very well reproduced; so well, indeed, that several of them were heartily applauded. During the progress of the

Our readers will scarcely require to be reminded that the performances of "Heart's Delight" will be produced at the Theatre Royal, this evening, with full success, and musical effects. A look of the words has been printed, and will be found of great use to those who attend the conventional Christmas entertainment.

The Queen's Theatre is to be reopened, this evening, under the management of Mr. Lazarus and Mr. Rainford. The star is Mr. Samuel Emery, who comes to us with credentials of Mr. Henry Emery as a character actor from England. The piece he has selected is Uncle Sam here is "Heart's Delight," which is founded on Dickens' novel of "Dombey and Son." Mr. Emery is Captain Cuttle.

_____

he this on the saying
 Mr. soci-
 lands and a
 of Mr.
 from the process pointing
 These
 a had would re constone's on had
 that is that he still unity is if he give
 this,
 ment on self-
 do of at they
 he fair.
 a cle of country f
 art we antations
 in the Let
 disap-
 some about 6th of tances
 cessing at in-
 United
 tain
 he 6th
 in the These
 with employed seizes
 shore,
 feared lost
 e, was
 of in-re in have nota,
 really erican
 by her-
 had to superior in this
 States
 needed
 local of were
 of the might milarly Salis-
 do's out
 of the local other ury to ration.
 venous
 quos-
 of its
 ; Mr. wing ;
 blician
 With-
 to the usin at
 in the ntama est, and part-r, it is of that dland erican
 oaters
 er in a truth
 then
 " the
 a com-
 of the Lord
 etectors.
 that e Do-
 half, of howd what points
 use it
 adians
 sub-
 n be
 to the enation.
 go too which Lord
 to the
 he was e hope he ay be spring-
 ours.
 what denew
 ough
 which
 The
 -prised
 t that es to
 of all Turkey
 utions
 agaria,
 -led to
 In the al but
 of its
 -surv-
 Turkey
 break
 which Jour-Stafford
 he last
 ; but direct
 safety.
 of the waves-
 of the
 " Pod-
 of the
 and not ure the s the
 on of s elo-
 an effect.
 at the
 in the rest in con-
 sation
 case of afford
 Eng-
 e pro-
 mal de
 did not
 The
 ighish accept
 will no

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.)

When he came into the country, he would have preferred some other question settled between the Company and the Government by arbitration. But by Dr. Newton not carried, and a hearty welcome thanks to the chairman, the meeting was closed.

During the past week the pupils attending the different schools in town were dismissed for the Christmas holidays. As the weather was so cold, which was dissipated first, there was a large gathering of ladies and gentlemen. At this establishment the visitors were shown an excellent exhibition of drawings and needlework by the pupils, after which the Rev. J. O'Donnell addressed the assembly, reading, reciting and singing. He then made a few remarks, and impressing on the young present the necessity for religious education, he dismissed the pupils.

On Thursday the pupils attending St. John's school were dismissed. The school was nicely decorated with evergreens, and refreshments were served. The Rev. J. O'Donnell addressed the assembly, and as presents for those attending the infants' class. Archbishop's school was also present.

On Friday evening a concert was held in connection with the Christmas festival. The Rev. J. O'Donnell presided, and the Rev. J. O'Donnell, chairman of the Local Board, occupied the chair. The programme was rendered by a number of ladies and gentlemen, and the Rev. J. O'Donnell, chairman of the Local Board, occupied the chair. The programme was rendered by a number of ladies and gentlemen, and the Rev. J. O'Donnell, chairman of the Local Board, occupied the chair. The programme was rendered by a number of ladies and gentlemen, and the Rev. J. O'Donnell, chairman of the Local Board, occupied the chair.

hall of the Mechanics' Institute, where the lecture was given. The speaker was called to the stage by the president, and in the conclusion of the lecture, referring to the attendance, acknowledged the fact that he had been very successful in his mission. Many people who lived at a distance were present, and he said he could not find it convenient to extend.

At the conclusion of the lecture, the bridge directors are contemplating a masterly sweep across the temporary bridge, and the company has been called to order by the president, Mr. Wags. According to the company's charter, they have rights in all but the Crown to the river two miles on either side of their bridge. The directors have been called to order by the president, Mr. Wags. According to the company's charter, they have rights in all but the Crown to the river two miles on either side of their bridge. The directors have been called to order by the president, Mr. Wags. According to the company's charter, they have rights in all but the Crown to the river two miles on either side of their bridge.

The chairman of the directors, Mr. Baylis, is greeted with a very bright idea; but as that gentleman holds an important position in the community, he is unable to do so. He is called to order by the president, Mr. Wags. According to the company's charter, they have rights in all but the Crown to the river two miles on either side of their bridge.

At just now two incidents have cropped up about this temporary bridge, which have had the effect of raising the question of its removal. The first incident is the fact that the community. The second incident is the fact that the community. The first incident is the fact that the community. The second incident is the fact that the community.

In the first case, a poor woman is traveling to London in a horse and cart, on which were her four children, and was crossing the bridge when the horse fell. The second incident is the fact that the community. The first incident is the fact that the community. The second incident is the fact that the community.

It is a very interesting story, and one which might be told for her little ones. This official story is referred to show her to

HARMONIUMS in variety
THE INSPECTOR GENERAL INVITED.
BEADLEY, NEWTON, and LAMU, Auctioneers, 5 O'Connell-street. Spring-asses O'Connell at the SHROOUM

D DISSOLUTION OF PARTNERS
SELLING OFF.
NICHOLSON and ASCHERBERG beg to announce that, owing to the continued illness of their Mr. Ascherberg is compelled to return to Europe and in consequence of his having severed his connection with the firm, and, they will at once reduce stock by TO CLOSE OFF THE ACCOUNTS,
SELLING OFF
AT COST PRICE,
 the whole of their magnificent stock of PIANOS,
CABINET ORGANS,
AND HARMONIUMS,
 comprising instruments by all the leading makers of Geneva, and England, all of which have been carefully used this market by their Home agent.

MUSIC.
 Their immense stock of all the Works will be offered at low or parcels of not less than 10s worth is taken at a time, at ONE-FOURTH THE MARKED PRICE.

MUST BE SOLD,
NO REASONABLE OFFER WILL BE REFUSED.
REMOVAL AND REMOVAL
217 and 218, George-st.

Descriptive catalogues in course of preparation

MONDAY, 30th instant.

Boots and Shoes. Boots and shoes. New and Seasonable Goods now landing in first-class cargo.

To the Trade, Country Storekeepers, and others.

M<sup>R</sup>. M. MOLONY is instructed by the Importers, at Auction, at his Rooms, No. 239, George-street, MONDAY next, the 30th instant, at 11 o'clock, to sell, by public auction, the following stock, viz., BOOTS and SHOES, as above.

Terms liberal at sale.
No reserve.

Cargo of the MALAY, from San Francisco, comprising

Clear Redwood
Sugar Pine
Oregon Flooring, &c &c Mountain White Wood
Pickets and Laths.

On an early day, at Cosmopolitan Wharf.

FRASER and CO. (successors to L. E. Threave & Co.) are instructed by Captain Loyal, to sell by public auction, on early day, the following cargo of the MALAY, from San Francisco, to-wit:

Oregon Sawn and mountain white wood, Full pack of mountain wool, &c &c Terms at sale.

For Positive Sale, by Order of the Executors of J. L. LAMONT, Esq.

THE ASHLEY, TULLYMORE, GIBBERATH, DUKE, and TRAVELLERS' CATTLE CA (now EL combined) Cattle Free Liberal.

P. N. TREBECK has received instructions as Executors of the late T. LAMONT, Esq., at his Rooms, about the 15th January, The above valuable lot of adjoining forming ONE COMPACT BLOCK of the best and most fertile land in the direction, and well improved by pasture, stockyards, &c., &c.
The estate is located very conveniently of the well-known CA (now EL combined) free brought near the Irving, Esq., has been most favourably methods to bring SQUALIN QUALITY THE OLOMAY, and having the same further improved under the personal of the late proprietor.
the best and herds in the district.

The Executors H. B. SELL, invited to inspect this excellent property situated in a healthy district, not subject to the rain or flood, and the CHARACTER OF THE HEED renders the annual stock and surplus stock income of the above property a real few changes of freehold land have made the run of the property.

Particulars further will shortly be advertised, if every information may be obtained at the Rooms.

Responsible to the Stock and the

the late
DOUBLEDAY
$2000 of the

is from the
and other,
efficient, well-
in every re-
of $6000 here, cattle. This to take Clark
TO ANY IN-
to the best experience
selected from capitalists are the absolute
of the set of bulle-
inducive pur-
from the man-
tion Agent.

[illegible]

